MEDIA PROCEDURES

Accreditation

BSWW's intention is to allow all members of the media to enjoy the best working conditions, and the accreditation system and timetable are an important part of this. An accreditation grants access to areas in the stadium that are relevant to the media.

When inside the stadium, the member of the media must always carry a passport or identity card, and the accreditation must be visible at all times. Every accreditation for the EURO WINNERS CUP remains a property of the Organizing Committee and can be withdrawn at any time.

Photographers' Access and Zones

Only members of the media, who are accredited as photographers and are wearing the provided coloured bib, are granted access to a determined set of zones inside the stadium. (Please see the map below)

Photographers are not entitled to take pictures from any of the stands, other than the Media Seats, and the same applies for cameramen.

Media tribune

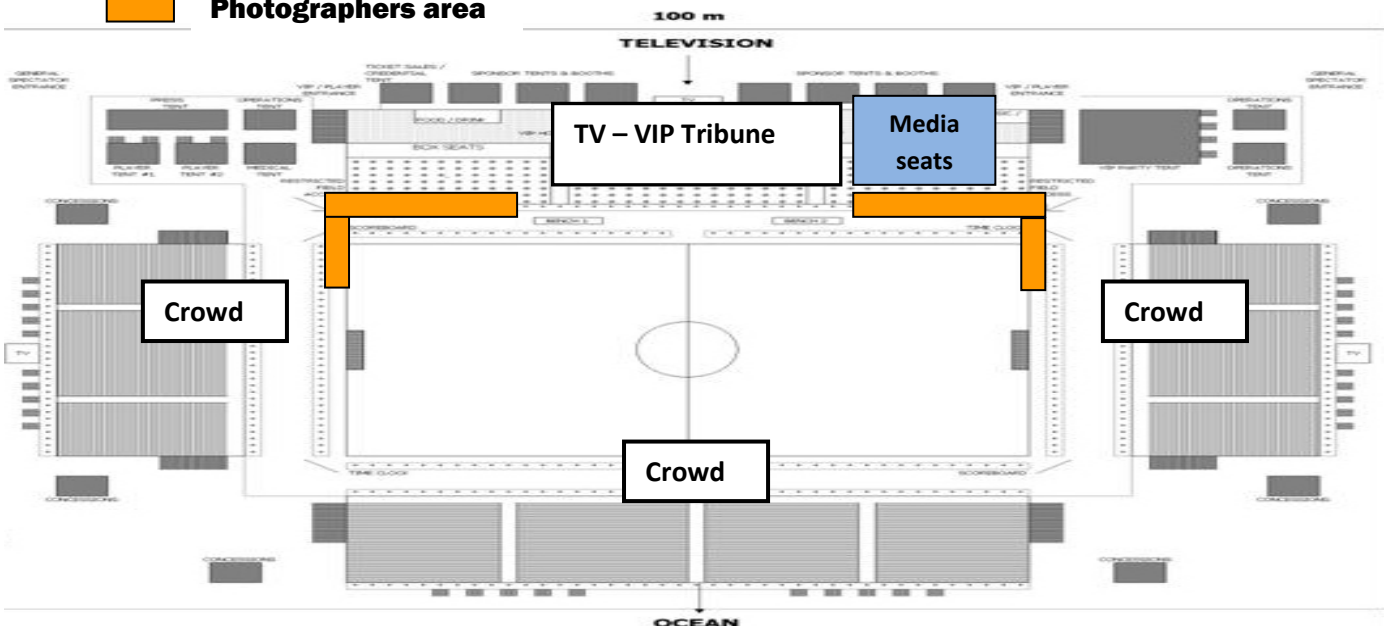

Members of the media who are accredited as Press/Media may watch EURO WINNERS CUP matches from the media tribune. Let us remind you that carriers of press accreditation are not allowed into the photographer zones.

Mixed Zone

After each match, and on request, the BSWW media officer in charge will accompany players and coaches of both teams to the mixed zone. Access to this area is restricted to Press/Media accreditation carriers.

No interviews can be held inside the pitch, especially between matches.

BEACH SOCCER: THE SPORT

Beach Soccer focuses on some of the most spectacular aspects of modern football: skill, agility and, above all, goals. All the action happens within a beach lifestyle atmosphere and the irregular nature of the soft-sand playing surface lends itself to an entertaining style of play, with the ball spending most of the time in the air and the players forced to improvise with moments of spectacular individual flair.

A compact pitch measuring 28x37 meters gives players license to shoot from virtually anywhere and, with an average of sixty attempts at goal in a single game (one every thirty seconds!), goalkeepers are tested to the absolute limit. However, even they can't prevent an average scoring rate of one goal every 3-4 minutes - 11 goals per game!

Teamwork is also key, with each side consisting of five players (four plus the goalkeeper) and unlimited substitutions to get them through the three 12-minute periods. Throw-ins and kick-ins mean the pace and flow of the game is unrelenting and in Beach Soccer there is always a winner, with the contest going down to three minutes of overtime followed by penalty kicks if the score is tied.

The unique party atmosphere enjoyed by a Beach Soccer crowd is maintained during the three-minute breaks between periods, when music, live acts and dancers keep the entertainment flowing.

BEACH SOCCER: CLOSE TO TWO DECADES OF HISTORY

It was bound to happen: the Brazilian people's passion for football games moved beyond the football pitch and onto the beach, to give birth to the most spectacular version of the Beautiful Game. Traditional moves were adapted to the sand, an environment where skill, improvisation, an excellent physical condition and the swing and natural ability that Brazilians are known for in football have all overflowed. The sun, the sea and the sand of Copacabana beach have made up the scenery for the creation of Beach Soccer, a sport full of plasticity, aerial plays, spectacular dribbles and goals...lots of goals.

Developed by the founding partners of Beach Soccer Worldwide, Beach Soccer rules were established in a dynamic format, one which causes each player's individual skills to prevail, while stressing fair play among the athletes. The game was originally intended as a highly appreciated spectator sport, valuing and generating business in advertising and sales.

The formula worked out wonderfully. Beach Soccer has conquered the world quickly, and is played today in more than 100 countries within the six FIFA Confederation zones. It is a sport for all audiences, played by men, women and children alike.

The scene has always been the same: Lots of sun and heat, packed arenas, personalities from the sports world standing on the Podium of Honour, huge queues before dawn for a seat to watch World Championship finals, etc.

MORE THAN JUST A GAME...

The participation of internationally renowned players such as flamboyant Frenchman Eric Cantona, legendary Spanish strikers Michel and Julio Salinas and Brazilian samba stars such as Romario, Junior and Zico has helped to expand television coverage to large audiences in over 170 countries worldwide, making Beach Soccer one of the fastest growing professional sports in the world and converting it into a major showcase for international commercial opportunity.

The early success of the World Championships (started by Octagon Koch Tavares) saw commercial interest begin to match developments on the pitch, and growing demand for the sport around the world gave rise to the Pro Beach Soccer Tour in 1996, organised by Beach Soccer Company, and later renamed Pro Beach Soccer.

The first Pro Beach Soccer Tour included a total of 60 games across Europe, Asia and the U.S.A., attracting major names both on and off the pitch. Interest generated by the tour in Europe led to the creation of the Euro Beach Soccer League in 1998, providing a solid infrastructure that would increase the professionalism of the sport on all levels.

The EPBSL, now known as the Euro BS League, united promoters from across the continent and satisfied the demands of the media, sponsors and fans. Only four years on from its creation, the successful first step in the building of a legitimate Worldwide Competition Structure for the sport of Pro Beach Soccer had been taken.

Behind the scenes, key developments were also taking place, with both founding partners joining forces to form a single entity known as Beach Soccer Worldwide (BSWW). Its goal was to unify all major Beach Soccer tournaments in the world under the same structure and to provide sole representation of the sport to major sponsors, the media and FIFA.

BECOMING PART OF FIFA

Just over seven years ago, beach soccer became a part of the FIFA family. After the Beach Soccer World Championships reached its 10th edition, down in 2004, Beach Soccer Worldwide associated with FIFA to create FIFA Beach Soccer S.L., the company responsible for organizing the FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup.

In May 2005, the first-ever FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup was staged on Copacabana Beach in Rio de Janeiro. To everyone's surprise, France defeated Portugal in the final, while hot favourites and hosts Brazil fell in the semis, in what still stands as one of the heaviest strokes they have suffered in all their history. From that moment on, five more FIFA Beach Soccer World Cups have backboned the evolution of the sport.

Becoming a FIFA member gave Beach Soccer the expected backing to jump onto the World's Sport Olympus, and, since that first steps in the Copacabana Beach in 1992, Beach Soccer has grown healthy and it has already reached its maturity, taking a prominent place in the sports panorama worldwide.

Today, everyone sees Beach Soccer as a unique spectacle that offers things that no other sport can, and this is precisely where its real value lies. It is not only considered the most flashing version of the 'Beautiful game' but it perfectly combines the touch of the best of beach and party atmospheres, the glamour, and the most attractive settings in the five continents.

Despite all that, no sport or other kind of expression would have any future if it did not raise a great media interest. And Beach Soccer does not lack this point either. Its competition format is absolutely suitable for TV, with a match structure that perfectly fits a one-hour broadcasting cluster, with three breaks, warranting a concentrated, easy-to-take and easy-to-understand dose of action.

All these assets have made Beach Soccer the king of Beach Sports. Figures do not lie. No other reaches as many countries, sets up competitions in so many different territories worldwide, attracts more national and international TV broadcasters, and gets a higher support from the Official Associations and Federations in every country.

20 teams take part in Euro Winners Cup!

The first European Clubs Competition achieves a record-breaking participation, with clubs from 18
different countries

The first ever edition of the Euro Winners Cup will open in a brilliant fashion, bringing together an astonishing 20 different teams to compete in the sands of San Benedetto del Tronto (Italy).

From the 15th to the 19th of May, the Rive delle Palme will host the historic first chapter of a competition involving all the champions in the different official National Leagues all across the Old Continent. 18 different countries will be represented, including big names as the champions of Russia (Lokomotiv Moscow), Switzerland (Club Grasshoppers Zurich), Italy (Terracina Beach Soccer), Turkey (Besiktas), Portugal (Os Belenenses) or Spain (Gimnàstic de Tarragona), among many others.

The twenty teams involved in the first edition of the Euro Winners Cup got to know today who their opponents in the regular phase are, after the draw held this afternoon at the City Council of San Benedetto del Tronto (Italy). The Stadium at the Rive delle Palme gets now ready to see the competition kick-off next 15th of May.

In the first stage, the eighteen champions of the officially sanctioned Beach Soccer National Championships, plus the host and the Italian runner-up got distributed into five groups, yet offering interesting battles with powerful teams having to compete for the head of the group.

Indeed, only the sides topping the group will be granted a ticket to the quarterfinals stage, accompanied by the three best second ranked teams.

All in all, 42 matches, distributed in two different pitches during five competition days will bring on the first ever European Club champion, and the sands of San Benedetto will be a privileged witness to that...
